Speaker: Mark Klym

Information Specialist, Wildlife Diversity Program
Texas Parks and Wildlife

Just in time for fall migration in the Brazos Valley, this presentation will focus on the hummingbirds that have been documented in a five county area centering on Brazos County and another small group of hummingbirds that are possible based on documented occurrence nearby or on habitat features that are present. Also, Mr. Klym will discuss season, habitat features and the probability of overwintering for each species. Mark is one of the co-authors of Hummingbirds of Texas with their New Mexico and Arizona Ranges, Texas A&M University Press, 2005 and coordinator of the Texas Hummingbird Roundup program of TPWD.

Rio Brazos Audubon Society (RBAS) serves the Brazos Valley of Texas, promoting enjoyment of birds and other wildlife in their natural environment. A chapter of the National Audubon Society, we invite you to participate in our scheduled field trips and activities to explore and encourage wilderness and natural beauty in our environment. We meet on the 2nd Wednesday of each month at 6:30 pm at the Brazos Valley Museum of Natural History. To join or find out more about the Rio Brazos Audubon Society, please see our website <http://riobrazosaudubon.org>
